DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Katsuumi et al (5,649,346).

Katsuumi et al disclose a process including the step of hydrophilic treatment of a substrate to facilitate entry of (plating) liquid into cavity or channel (22), wherein the channel or cavity is formed before the treatment process; Katsuumi et al also teach that the substrate is immersed in liquid for the treatment to facilitate the entry of liquid, reads on the claimed limitation of confining a liquid (col.7, lines 23-32).

As to claim 8, Katsuumi et al's treatment liquid comprises ethanol liquid, which reads on the claimed liquid comprises water because ethanol liquid includes water.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 2 and 5-6 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Katsuumi et al (5,649,346) in view of Sundberg et al (2002/0185377 A1).

Katsuumi et al discuss above in the paragraph 3 but remain silent with the treatment process of the substrate surface that includes the deposition of a polytetrafluoroethylene layer on the surface area.

However, Sundberg et al disclose a microfluidic device for facilitating supplying fluid in which the substrate surface is coated with hydrophobic coating 58 (e.g., a polytetrafluoroethylene such as Teflon.TM. helps prevent smearing of fluid 50 over lower surface 42 of substrate 32, thereby avoiding cross-contamination of fluid samples. (see paragraph 0043).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skilled in the art at the time of claimed invention to modify Katsuumi et al's teaching with the teaching of Sundberg et al for reducing cross-contamination during the fluid handling as suggested by Sundberg et al.

As to claim 2, etching the substrate 21 using resist mask would leads to certain roughness on the surfaces, where the channels are formed (col.7, lines 23-25).

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 3-4 and 7 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art fails to teach the subject matters of claims 3-4 and 7.
